LEARN & ACHIEVE @ ASLI

Diwali at ASLI:

On 20th October, we celebrated "Diwali," an Indian festival of lights. Because Diwali is meant to be celebrated with loved ones, friends, and acquaintances back home so some of our students have expressed a sense of incompleteness. As a result, we decided to commemorate this occasion with our students, and we attempted to recreate it here at ASLI. Students and faculty were encouraged to dress in traditional Indian attire. Celebrating Diwali on campus was a way for our South Asian students to feel at home. We also made rangoli. The highlight of this day was a delicious lunch. Rather than catering from outside, we decided to showcase the talent of our recently enrolled students. Lunch was prepared by our commercial cookery students at our Coburg kitchen under the supervision of their trainers. We all had a great time. Heartfelt thank you to our students and faculty for making ASLI stand out in the crowd with your innovative ideas, love, and dedication. Blessings!
