R U OK Day at ASLI

We are thrilled to share the update about our recent "R U OK Day Morning Tea" event at ASLI. This special occasion brought together our dedicated staff and students for a morning filled with meaningful conversations and support for mental health. The event took place on Thursday 14th September at our Level 2, 123 Lonsdale Street Campus. R U OK Day is a nationally recognized initiative that encourages open and empathetic discussions about mental health. At ASLI, we wholeheartedly embrace the values of care, empathy, and community support. Our ASLI family came together with warmth and solidarity, reaffirming our commitment to each other's well-being. The heart of the event was the meaningful conversations that transpired. We asked, listened, and supported one another. Many shared their stories and experiences, fostering connections and inspiring hope. During this event we provided valuable mental health resources to empower individuals to seek help and support if needed.

While our R U OK Day Morning Tea may be over, the conversation doesn't end here. Let's continue to check in on each other, listen with empathy, and offer support when needed. Together, we create a culture of care and compassion.

If you'd like to share your thoughts and reflections on the event, please use the hashtag #RUOKASLI on social media. Your stories can inspire and encourage others to reach out and connect. Thank you to all attendees for your active participation in our R U OK Day Morning Tea.

Your compassion and commitment to one another are the foundations of our institute's strength. Together, we create a supportive and caring ASLI community where every member's well-being matters.

Important information about USI

A USI, or Unique Student Identifier, is a reference number consisting of ten numbers and letters. It is a unique identifier that is provided to individuals in Australia who are engaging in education and training. USI is unique to the individual and is used to link all of their nationally recognized training and qualifications in a single, easily accessible record. The USI is meant to stay with a person throughout their life, regardless of the different educational institutions or training providers they may attend.

Important Considerations When Creating Your USI:

Ensure that when you're in the process of creating your Unique Student Identifier (USI), your name aligns precisely with the information on your passport. This means entering both your given name and family name as they appear on your passport. If you possess only a single-name identifier, please input it exactly as is. In the event that your passport details and the name you provided for your USI do not match, we kindly advise you to reach out directly to USI support. You can contact them at 1300 857 536 during their operating hours of 8:30 am to 6:30 pm (AEST), Monday through Friday, with the exception of Australian public holidays.

Consequences of Not Having a USI: Inability to receive a statement of attainment, qualification, or award.
