Message from CEO

March held significant importance for us, particularly in honouring the women who shape our lives. On March 8th, 2024, ASLI celebrated International Women's Day, a meaningful occasion for reflection and celebration. I have always supported the saying that behind every successful man there stands a woman, and my conviction in this belief remains steadfast. Witnessing my mother's unwavering support for my father since my early years deeply rooted this truth within me. Today, as I look upon my wife, I am filled with gratitude for her steadfast support, a pillar in my daily endeavours.

In my personal and work life, I am lucky to have amazing women around me. They work hard and are really talented. They take care of my business with honesty, immense hardwork and dedication. I am thankful for all they do and think they deserve a lot of credit. I believe in gender equality, but I also know women are really good at doing many things at once. Every day, I see them managing their home life and work life without any trouble.

Lately, ASLI has been getting a lot of compliments for different activities like our newsletter, Master Chef events, and graduation ceremonies. What makes me really proud is that these achievements come from the smart and hardworking women I work with. Even when I started writing for the newsletter, it was because a woman encouraged me to do it.

Basically, women's support and contributions are super important for growing personally and professionally. So, a big thank you and congratulations to all the amazing women out there making such valuable contributions worldwide.

A Tips and tricks from Cookery class

1. With the price of some produce getting very expensive, consider planting leafy greens such as lettuce or herbs which can be easily grown in planters on a balcony or a window without too much hassle.
2. Don't knock purchasing frozen or canned fruit and vegetables! This is much more cost-effective method, has extended shelf life compared to fresh produce and there is no compromise in nutritional intake. Having these products on hand is a great way to use them when required.
3. When shopping compare the price per 100g/ml between like products to get the most value. This can be really handy if you are buying proteins such as meat, poultry and fish which you can buy in bulk, portion and freeze for later use.

Always remember to label and date items before freezing.

What is Orientation and why it is important to attend?

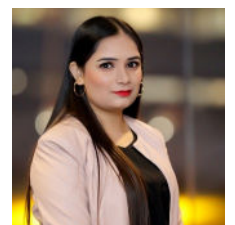

Orientation is the first thing you do when you start college. It usually happens a few days or weeks before classes start. The goal is to introduce you to your school, what it's like to be on campus, and all the helpful things you can use while you're there, It's like a crash course to get you ready for your course. Plus, it's a chance to meet other students and trainers and make new friends. It is strongly advised that all new students participate in orientation activities. Please refers to your letter of offer for specific details pertaining to your course requirements.

WHY IT IS IMPORTANT?

Orientation is an essential step for all incoming fresher students and existing students joining us. It's crafted to offer a warm welcome easing the transition into college life by providing a wealth of programming and resources. Through shared experiences, students can find answers to their questions, forge meaningful connections, gain insight into campus life, and grasp the expectations awaiting them as new members of the community.

During Orientation, you'll have the opportunity to:

- Engage with fellow new students.
- Connect with advisors, faculty, and support staff.
- Explore the diverse array of courses and majors available at Australian Study Link Institute.
- Seek guidance on financial aid options and payment plans.
- Familiarize yourself with important resources tailored to students.
- Understand college policies and procedures.
